Bachelor s programme in Architecture

The Bachelor s Programme in Architecture is designed to provide the foundations for a profession in the field of construction over a regular course of study of six semesters. The main focus of the Bachelor s Programme is to provide application-orientated skills of both a creative and a technical nature, including the basics of both structural and creative design, and expertise of combining them in a final design. The goal of this part of the programme is to enable independent problem-solving, and the integration of solutions into complex processes. The personal development of goal-oriented individual work and the use of the advantages of teamwork are developed on the basis of practical projects.
